Our Father, who art in heaven, hallowed be Thy name. Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done, on earth as it is in heaven. Give us this day our daily bread, and forgive us our trespasses as we forgive those who trespass against us. Lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil, for Thine is the kingdom and the power and the glory forever! Amen.

Chair Yoga

Chair yoga is a gentle practice in which postures are performed while seated and/or with the aid of a chair. Chair yoga classes typically target those with physical disabilities or aging men and women who find a typical yoga session too challenging. It is also a great form of yoga for beginners or anyone who wants to focus on a gentle practice.

OPEN TO ALL WOMEN!!!

Thank you to everyone who responded to the Amy Odyssey survey. I appreciate all of the suggestions that were offered. The majority of you said you didn't want to change a thing, but I will be aware of those who did want to see a few changes.

The concept of an Amy Odyssey was born many years prior to what you now see in the bulletin here. When I worked at Intuit and would take solo trips to different places, I would use Facebook live to share some of the things I got to experience on those trips. Sometimes they would be serious, but sometimes I would do silly things. Like laying down in the snow at Sundance Ski Resort in Utah and making snow angels. I would call these my Amy Odysseys. So thank you for letting me carry on with sharing my day-to-day experiences.

There was some confusion about "Skippy". I hope to clear that up a bit. "Skippy" is not a real person. I created the idea of "Skippy" from the phrase, "My evil twin, Skippy". Cartoonist Garry Trudeau created "Skippy" during the term of George H W Bush. It was Skippy who took the flak from partisan issues that would arise. In my situation, my evil twin "Skippy" shows up when I should be taking my sabbath days, holidays, and vacation days. It means that I am working on those days instead of using them for what their meant to be used...resting. Rev Amy shows up on days she should be working...Wednesday-Sunday. Also, "Skippy's" character has somewhat taken on the character of our newest dog Kiki. Extremely excitable! Now, without further ado, here is your Amy Odyssey.

Wednesday Meg and I arrived a little late because...it was Administrative Professionals Day. A day to let such individuals know how vital they are to the organization they serve. Heidi definitely deserves some recognition for that. Snoop Dawg played a part in that recognition. Then it was off to preschool chapel. We played the telephone game there too, using the teachers. They didn't disappoint. Grandma's jello developed several flavors in all of the games that were played. The kids are doing really well on the song I will sing with them. Mark your calendar for May 13th @ 10:00 am if you want to hear it. Back to where Heidi and I finished coordinating on the week. There was going to be a memorial service on Saturday, so got the order of worship and pictures for the bulletin to Heidi. Worked on our last advanced payment request for our grant. Completed Annual Conference registrations for myself, Russell Cox, and David Balk. This will take place from June 18-21. There will be ways to observe virtually. We will start promoting that in May. Visited a couple of people at KRMC. One of the visits included a request to be baptized. Be still my heart! We set it for Sunday after the 10:30 service. Then back to finish prep for our Wednesday night bible study. Acts 22! Once we arrived at our bible study time, I realized that we were going to be low in numbers because of travel and illness. We pivoted to the Upper Room study with its questions from the back of the book. This really does make for robust discussions.

Thursday Joined Ken and our friends at Grace Lutheran for one of their Thursday lunches. I saw some familiar faces joining them. It's also just good to have a clergy friend to bounce things off of. Back to church to do some prep for both the Saturday memorial service and our Sunday sermon. I was excited to kick off our new series on the book of James called "Jim Time". Got to hear Rex's excellent message one more time!

Friday Arrived in time to be able to join the Nana's pantry crew in prayer. It was, as usual, a hopping busy time. Had a few pastoral care drop ins. (Not unusual on food box day) Put together the orders of worship for May 3 & 7. Spent more time prepping for the memorial service message. It was going to be from John 14. I also would be providing the Eulogy, since the family didn't feel comfortable getting up to talk. Thank goodness for a very thorough obituary for Mary Jane Hobbs Pattillo. Ran home to get changed into something nicer and then went to Suttons for Mary Jane's viewing. Then finally home. Suzanne had a fantastic meal whipped up. We've developed a sudden obsession with using our Air Fryer.

Saturday Arrived at church by 9 to give myself some time before the 11 service. It was a good thing because our friends from Sutton's arrived at that time too. Mary Jane's service went on beautifully. Chris Commisso provided the music. Her songs were a bit more contemporary. And I learned that she was an Elvis fan. There were tears in many eyes when Chris sang a soulful rendition of "Love Me Tender, Love Me True". After the service and after everyone left, ran home to change into something less dressy. Then back to work on things for the Sunday service. Ricky dropped in and we did a little bit of planning for David's memorial service. This will be held on May 30th @ 10:30 am. More details to come. I worked at church until it was time to go home for dinner. We elected to order pizza that night. After dinner finished up the rest of the service.

Sunday Woke up with slight tummy issues. I can do this! A little acid reducing medication wouldn't hurt. One thing to note about this morning. IT WAS COLD! I could definitely feel it in the dress I chose. The same thing that felt fine yesterday for the memorial service was brisk for today. (Yes, guilty confession, I didn't pick a different outfit) But the cold didn't chill our spirits! It was fun to release Jim Time today! It sounded like you all didn't mind it either. Except for what James actually says. He doesn't pull punches, does he? With my tummy issues, I'd hoped to maybe postpone the baptism til Monday (Yes that would me evoking "Skippy"). But the patient requesting the baptism took a serious turn for the worse. One other thing to know is that I am teaching my first Advanced Lay Servant class right now. We started on the 19th, with additional sessions on the 26th and the 3rd. The run from 1:30 – 5:00 on those days. I knew I wouldn't be able to spend meaningful time with our patient and her baptism. So I coordinated the delay of the start of the class to 2:30. All of the students were very gracious. The baptism was lovely. We said the 23rd Psalm, sang Amazing Grace, and said the Lord's prayer together. Then it was back to church for the Lay Servant class. This class is called Leading Public and Intercessory Prayer. It's awesome material. Depending on the feedback from these students, I will likely offer to teach it again in the fall. With the end of that class came the end of my week. I'd be working on the Amy Odyssey and daily devotion on either Monday or Tuesday. That'll make someone pretty excited.
